

Abstract

An award indicating device for use at a point of sale location having point of sale equipment, wherein the device comprises an automatic selector whose actuation, via an 5 actuating device, is associated with the point of sale equipment, and wherein the selector is operable for selecting an outcome from a range of outcomes wherein at least one outcome corresponds to the indication of an available award.